Responsibilities

This position is located in the Office of the Inspector General (OIG), an independent office within the Government Publishing Office (GPO), as defined by 44 USC 3901-3901. The OIG is responsible for conducting or overseeing all audits, inspections, reviews, evaluations, and investigations relating to programs and operations of the GPO. This position serves as the Deputy Inspector General (DIG).

As the Deputy, the incumbent is the second in charge within the OIG and serves as the expert and alter ego to the Inspector General (IG) and provides management continuity within the OIG. The DIG has full authority to act as the Inspector General in his/her absence, sharing with the latter the responsibility to monitor and manage operations of the office, to include (a) directing workload, (b) coordinating overall policy, plans, requirements, direction, and priorities; (c) managing the administrative functions of the office, to include budget and personnel; and, (d) as needed performing the full range of responsibilities of a supervisory Assistant IG. The DIG may also, represent the IG at briefings, meetings, and conferences.

The incumbent assists, advises and represents the IG and shares responsibility for professional legal review, policy formulation, strategic planning, program oversight, administration, and operational management. The incumbent has full oversight responsibility for audits, evaluations, and inspections of fiscal, administrative, management activities. The incumbent also has full oversight authority for overseeing and coordinating investigations of possible fraud, waste and abuse to promote economy, efficiency and effectiveness.

The incumbent promotes policies and procedures that are in accordance with applicable Inspector General Statutes, regulations, and other standards established by the Council of the Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency (CIGIE).

The incumbent receives general policy guidance from the IG and is regarded as the subject matter expert on organizational performance evaluation. Incumbent must have at least one year of supervisory or managerial experience preferably in Office of Inspector General investigative programs, audits, inspections and evaluations.

The incumbent must be able to obtain and maintain a Top Secret Security Clearance.

Qualifications:

The work of this position requires professional knowledge and experience in directing audits, inspections and evaluations, and criminal and general investigations; knowledge of internal and government auditing principles and methodologies; and broad knowledge of legislation and regulations relating to GPO's programs in order to serve as Deputy IG. Individual must have at least one year of supervisory or managerial experience preferably in Office of Inspector General investigative programs, audits, inspections and evaluations. Finally, it requires excellent written and oral communication skills in order to represent the IG effectively in dealing with high level officials on GPO matters.
