Advanced Interviewing for IG Investigators (AIGI)

Who Should Attend: Federal, state/local or military IG investigators, ideally those with some basic interview training and experience.

What You Will Learn: How to better elicit truthful information from witnesses, handle denials, and obtain more complete and truthful admissions and confessions from suspects. The program includes an introduction to recording interviews, including recommended techniques and practical application. Case studies will be used to illustrate proven techniques in conducting non-confrontational investigative interviews common to the IG community, with the opportunity to practice skills learned.

Core Topics:

- An Orientation to Advanced Law Enforcement Interview Techniques
- Planning Law Enforcement Interviews
- Rapport Development and Theme Presentations
- Handling Denials and Countering Questions from the Interview Subject
- Special Considerations for IG Investigations
- Types of Interview Questions
- Identifying and Analyzing Physical and Verbal Behaviors
- Establishing and Maintaining Control of the Interview
- Recorded Interviews
- Interviewing Laboratory & Case Studies

Comment from AIGI Graduates:

"I never imagined I could learn so much great information in such a short period of time."

"The course content was spot on! Great instructors. Excellent class."

"I think the non-confrontational approach will help me get incremental admissions that will be useful, even without getting a full confession."

"All of the instructors were excellent! Really mean that. Excellent job relating course material to real life events and experiences which made it easier to not only remember, but retain long after class is over and we've returned home. Good Job!"

"This should be mandatory training for all IG investigators."

"All instructors were knowledgeable, entertaining, and informative."
